

Concerned about your SATs levels in Writing?

Need to help more children achieve level 4? Level 5?

Need inspiration to help you motivate boys to become confident and enthusiastic writers?

Come and find out about
All Write Now!

A one-day training event for teachers dedicated to making writing an enjoyable experience for all children.

Read On – Write Away! in association with Gemma Books present this whole school writing strategy which provides stimulating and effective ideas for raising standards of writing.

During the day you will find out how AWN! can help you:

- Identify and use approaches which motivate children to write and avoid the things which discourage children from writing
- Identify and provide a systematic approach leading to a finished piece of writing: from generation of ideas, through use of appropriate formats and voices, revision of work, to evaluation and self-assessment.
- Communicate with, and involve parents.

The teachers can see that AWN has made a difference. They have noticed an improvement in their children's use of vocabulary, ability to talk about their writing, their knowledge of what level they are working to, use of more ambitious words and punctuation. Children are more confident to have a go, they have more choice and so are more motivated.

The training was well received, enjoyable and really helpful. The teachers enjoyed the course because they gained lots of ideas, it was practical (not just watch and listen) and the tutor was enthusiastic - it was a day well spent. Children are more enthusiastic about writing. I feel that AWN has made a real positive difference to our
