

Major and Scottie

The two dogs were great friends who stuck together like glue. Major was a huge old Golden Labrador, sensible and careful. Scottie was a much younger Scottish Terrier, who always managed to get both of them into trouble. Major protected the smaller dog, often having to rescue Scottie when he got stuck or when he picked fights with other dogs. Everything was OK until, just the other day, Major fell ill.

... and soon Scottie came up with an idea. Scottie thought that he could buy all Major's favourite foods, luxuries and maybe some of his medicines to help him get better. Major soon got better. Scottie was so happy.

Major and Scottie were out on their usual walk, when they bumped into a Jack Russell and a Dog de Bordeaux.

"Hello my name is Troy and her name is Luna. We are looking for some friends."

"We will be your friends."

"Thank you."

"Hey, we can go exploring."

"Sure," said Major.

"By the way, I'm Major and this is Scottie."

The next day, the dogs and their friends went on an adventure. Major, Scottie, Troy and Luna were in an underground tunnel. They could hear people saying there is a giant crystal on the loose. They came to a double tunnel. Major and Scottie wanted to go through the tunnel, to the left. Troy and Luna went through the right tunnel.

Suddenly Troy and Luna heard a howl. They rushed into the other tunnel, but Luna ran too fast, she fell down the hole, with Scottie. Major and Troy howled for help. It took 5 hours for a rescue team to come. When they got back, they got wrapped up in towels and put in bed. They were really exhausted and they fell straight to sleep.
