

Ashley and the Chocolate World

By Rowan

Y4 POW! Group, Parkdale Primary School

In the summer holidays Ashley and his parents, Jo and Sita were at home getting ready to go to Chocolate World. Everyone was excited.

Everyone looked out of the window and was sad as it was raining, but they still got in the car and went on with their journey.

Ashley was a kind person because everyone was kind to him, so he was nice to others. He liked to play football and was in a team called the Blue Tigers. His friends were called Joshua and Nicki.

Ashley wished that he had some friends with him so that he could have some fun, because he hated to play I Spy with his mum and dad.

As they arrived at Chocolate World, Ashley found a mysterious map of Chocolate World on the information desk. When he looked a little closer, he saw a code and wondered what the code was. He wondered what the map was about. He thought it was a map of buried chocolate.

Ashley and his parents went to the centre of Chocolate World. Falling down from the top of the stairs was a piece of paper and on it was a code for a map. Ashley had the code and went looking for the buried chocolate. On his way he found six doors. He wondered what was behind them.

He tried the third door and it opened and he saw a chocolate fountain. Dribbling thin chocolate ran down the sides. He wanted to dive in. Ashley was going to dive into the chocolate fountain but he did not because he would be covered in chocolate, so he decided to go and find his parents.

He found his parents, but they had turned into chocolate zombies and they tried to eat him. Ashley was terrified and shook like jelly. Then he screamed, "You scared me!" The two chocolate zombies took off their costumes and Ashley was relieved to see faces he knew, they belonged to his mum and dad. His parents said, "Surprise!" They told Ashley that they did not want to scare him, they only wanted to have some fun. To make up for scaring him they took him into the chocolate shop to buy the biggest egg he could find.

Ashley though this was a good idea because it was nearly Easter and his friends would be very jealous. Ashley and his parents had a laugh about what had happened and went back home in their car, hoping to share Ashley's huge egg.