

A Holiday on the Beach
by Jack, Y4 Parkdale Primary School

In the wintertime when school was closed, Sita and Nicky went on holiday. They went to San Diego in the USA on a plane. They made friends with Joe and Ashley who were also on holiday and they decided to go to the beach. Ashley was fourteen and so was Nicky. Joe and Sita were eleven.

Nicky was an adventurous, popular boy. His friends thought he was better than everyone, especially Joe. His best friend was Ashley, they liked to go exploring together.

At the beach it was peaceful and calm. All the friends could hear were the waves slowly whooshing on the shore. They went along the beach with their feet in the water. They were looking for sea shells because they had heard that there were some unusual ones.

Suddenly they saw one sticking up in the sand, so they ran to it and as they pulled, the tide came in and washed them into the shell, as quick as a blink. When they were inside they were punching the rocky walls to see if they could break. Ashley said, "We need to get out before the water drowns us."

Suddenly the cave went black and they heard ghostly noises which freaked them out. They saw an opening and made an escape, but they were in the ocean! Suddenly they heard a helicopter and it shone a bright light on them. They dropped a rope and rescued all of them.
