

The Football Game
by Alex, Y4 Parkdale Primary School

One Saturday in June, a football cup match at the Alex ground was taking place. Sita went to support Ashley and his friends Joe and Nicki, who were eleven years old. Sita was ten years old. Sita was very excited about going to the match.

Joe's friends thought that Joe was cooler than anyone else and skilful at football. His best friend was Nicki who liked to have sleepovers with and eat midnight feasts. He had a girlfriend called Sita.

At the match Sita sat behind the goal and was very, very excited when the match started. All the people around her were singing, "I had a wheelbarrow and the wheel fell off." Sita started to laugh. The whistle blew. Joe's team went flying down the pitch. Joe scored a goal and he tought, "Now it's one nil." The crowd went wild. Sita was so happy that she had to have a drink to calm her down.

It started to rain and Ashley fell and sprained his ankle, but there were no subs, so Sita was the only one that could help and the boys went, "Arr a girl!" Sita ran on the pitch and went into defence and Ashley was carried off the pitch.

In the meantime, Sita did a front flip because she was brilliantly happy that she got into the team as a sub. Ashley hobbled on to the pitch to join in the fun!
