

Window Smashers

By Thomas Daykin

It was the weekend when Ashley went on the park to meet his friends to play football. They played football with their bright red shirts on.

Suddenly Joe scored a goal. The ball bounced on the park building's window and smashed it. They shouldn't have been playing been playing football on the park because it wasn't allowed. As they were busy playing, the park keeper came running down the hill but they were quick and hid in their den. Ashley, Joe, Sita and Nicky popped their heads up and the park keeper saw them and, said, "I'll tell your parents," so they left.

Later on that day Joe, Sita and Nicky were playing at Ashley's house. Suddenly there was a knock on the door, it was the park keeper. Luckily the park keeper was a friend of Ashley's dad. He told him all about it and his dad got Ashley down stairs to apologise. Dad had to pay for the window and Ashley was grounded.
