

Community Reading Groups

Self-organised groups of people who meet to share books to suit their own circumstances and interests – could be the “Martini club” – anytime, any place, anywhere.

Some groups may need help setting up, and access to resources.

Libraries may be able to help with sets of books for Reading Groups.

Other organisations may be able to provide access to comfortable venues.

See Bringing People Together Fund for possible funding opportunities.

Lots of websites available to provide inspiration and ideas for discussions on different books.
